Streamline authentication:

We continuously improve our linkages and signal data to help you locate identities and records with minimal PII.

Recognize in real time:

Identify real people, even with fragmented identifiers. Resolve data to a single individual, bridging online and offline identifiers.

Unlock key insights:

Use Verify to identify data that fails to match household expectations. Create accurate dossiers on individuals for background checks.

Experience Advanced Identity Resolution

Offer a swift but secure solution for identity search by employing FullContact's real-time identity resolution. With Verify, you can access high-quality, ethically-sourced data via real-time API or batch intelligence install.

Match

Compares data to identify risk on form fields or applications

Activity

A numerical score to help determine the legitimacy of a data point

We compare the data in our identity graph with your data on a specific person to offer a risk score based on how well the information matches.

Verify provides a numerical score to help you determine the legitimacy of a given data point. Long-term regular activity is a positive signal, and new, sporadic activity from an identifier is considered negative.

Verify connects the dots between 5B global email addresses and 50B identity fragments to help you:

Enable a simplified, tested, real-time verification process.

Protect against fraud and maintain your brand reputation.

Your Data. Your Control.

Many identity solutions require you to pool your data with customer data from other clients before offering access to their platform. Your data never enters our graph. Maintain full control of your data while accessing our extensive data and insights.
